National Initiatives Talking Points
Version 1.0; October 1, 2018

RD3: Resources for Data Driven Discovery (nnlm.gov/data)
- Resources for librarians, library students, information professionals, and interested individuals
- The RD3 website provides information on data science activities across the region and the nation
- Biomedical and Health Research Data Management Training for Librarians course offered as a 7-week online course
  o Note: the fall course is full, contact NTO to get on the wait list for the course offered next spring
- A new bimonthly Research Data Management webinar series has begun
- For other questions that you cannot answer, please refer to Derek

NNLM All of Us National Program
- This program is a 3-year pilot project (started in 2017), which is a partnership between the National Library of Medicine and NIH’s All of Us Research Program
- NIH’s All of Us Research Program is a part of the Precision Medicine Initiative at NIH, launched to build a national research participant group (i.e. cohort) of one million or more U.S. participants to further research to develop individualized care (https://allofus.nih.gov/)
- In this partnership, NNLM will be:
  o Supporting public library staff through training (CHIS sponsorship, new courses) and funding for programming (awards), and connecting them with health sciences librarians (https://nnlm.gov/all-of-us) o Developing training on health literacy topics for audiences, such as health professionals, participants, citizen scientists, and interested individuals (platform in development).
- For other questions that you cannot answer, please refer to Darlene

Public Libraries
- This represents NNLM’s strategic focus to develop partnerships and collaborations with public libraries to inform communities about NLM resources
- Recently completed a national partnership with the Public Library Association, led by the GMR
- NNLM and ALA collaborated on ‘Because’ statements about health information created as a part of the Libraries Transform public awareness campaign
- Developed a new course for public library staff, Stand Up for Health, led by the GMR
- Contributing to the PLA/OCLC opioid crisis project
- For other questions that you cannot answer, please refer to Bobbi