Funding Category	Denver Area All of Us Local Ambassador Program Support Subaward	Maximum Funding per Award
All of Us Community Engagement	Funds programming by a library, health organization or community-based organization in conjunction with the All of Us Local Ambassador Program pilot activity planned for the Denver area.	$2,500

Period of Performance: November 2, 2020 – April 15, 2021

Description of the Award

The Network of the National Library of Medicine, MidContinental Region (NNLM MCR), under a cooperative agreement grant with the U.S. National Library of Medicine (NLM), announces the availability of the Denver Area All of Us Local Ambassador Program Support Subaward. This subaward is intended to support the All of Us Research Program’s Local Ambassador Program pilot activity planned for the Denver, Colo., area. It will do so through library programming aimed at communities underrepresented in biomedical research. The programming should present information on the All of Us Research Program and provide opportunities for All of Us local ambassadors to engage potential and current participants in the program. Potential projects may include guest speakers, book discussion groups organized around health or community-engagement topics, citizen science activities, digital literacy activities, training sessions for staff or the public, and other in-person or online library activities. Projects that rely on partnerships between libraries and community-based organizations or other community partners are strongly encouraged. Potential applicants are encouraged to discuss ideas for programming beforehand by contacting NNLM MCR All of Us Engagement Coordinator George Strawley at george.strawley@utah.edu or (801) 581-5242.

To receive funding your organization must be an NNLM MCR member. Membership(s) may be confirmed by visiting the NNLM Member Directory. Not a member? Join today, it’s free.

Specifically, the Local Ambassador Program Support Subaward seeks to address the following aims and intended outcomes of the NNLM MCR:

Aim (Outreach and Education Core): Making sub-awards to regional Network members to help achieve MCR outreach, education, and technology goals.

NNLM MCR intended outcomes:

- Network members have adopted effective practices promoted by the NNLM MCR.
- Participants in NNLM MCR programs are aware of appropriate resources and/or have the skills to use them.
- Underserved populations in the MidContinental Region benefit from NNLM MCR programs.
- Participants engaging with the NNLM MCR experience a significant increase to health information access.
- The reach of the NNLM MCR is extended as a result of work with organizations and Network members.

Up to $2,500 of funding is available for approximately one project within the region.

MCR staff are available for consultation and training on applicable National Library of Medicine resources and potential projects. Please contact us; we want to help you succeed!

Potential applicants must initiate the process by contacting MCR All of Us Engagement Coordinator George Strawley at george.strawley@utah.edu or (801) 581-5242 to discuss their ideas and to determine the scope of work. NNLM may provide feedback at that time that can help in completing the application process. Contacting NNLM does not commit you to completing an application.

Application Instructions

Resources to assist applicants in writing proposals can be found here:

- Grants and Proposal Writing course materials
- Examples of previously funded projects

Prepare your proposal with the following information:

I. Background Information

- Working title for the project;
- Abstract;
- Name of the library or institution submitting the proposal;
- Institution tax ID;
- Date of submission;
- Project lead's name, title, mailing and email addresses, phone numbers;
- Amount of funding requested;

- List any other funding received for this project.

II. Project Proposal

- Evidence of need for the project: Clearly explain the need for the project, include important demographic information that supports the need for the project or about the target population, describe information resources or services which are currently available, information resources or services which are needed, and relevant barriers to access. Also, applicants should cite any known needs assessments, formal or otherwise, any relevant statistics or literature that support the needs identified.
- Diversity and inclusion: Explain how this project supports building or enhancing diversity and inclusion with your library community.
- NLM Resources: Note what NLM resource(s) you will be highlighting and how they will be incorporated into your outreach or programming.
- Project goals and objectives: State the goal(s) and specific objective(s) of the proposed project, consider process objectives about what will be done (outputs) and outcomes-based objectives that specify what will happen or change as a result, indicate the rationale for the plan.
- Implementation: Discuss in detail how the project will be implemented. Include tasks to be performed and who will perform them.
- Schedule/Timeline: Provide a timeline for the project.
- Publicity: Provide a plan for promoting the project to the targeted organization or community. Examples would include sharing successes or challenges as the project is implemented on a monthly basis through a Facebook post, a tweet, or captioned Instagram post that the MCR can share.
- Personnel: Identify all project personnel and their role in the project.
- Specific Populations/Roles of Participants/Goals form must be included with your proposal. The PDF form can be downloaded at: https://nml.gov/sites/default/files/ner/files/REQUIRED%20FORM_Specific%20Populations_Roles%20of%20Participants_Goals1.pdf.
- Project Partners: If applicable, describe any institution(s) that you will be working with for this project.
- Evaluation plan: Describe how the success of the project will be measured and the methods to be used to measure that success. Evaluation should be tied to project goals and objectives and should incorporate the reporting requirements listed in the Additional Requirements section of this announcement.

Describe the measures of success for each objective. Output/process objectives are usually measured quantitatively. Outcome measures may be quantitative or qualitative.

- The subaward applicants should consult the NNLM MCR office for guidance in developing their evaluation plans. Award recipients on All of Us-related projects will be required to collect information as specified in the Additional Requirements section below and report it using the forms provided there or on the NNLM Evaluation Office's (NEO) Evaluation Materials web page (<https://nml.gov/neo/members/evalmaterials>). If your project includes training, technology, exhibiting, or professional development activities, you will need to use these forms to collect and report this standard information. If you plan to do

- any of the outreach activities addressed on the Evaluation Materials page, describe how you intend to use the forms to collect the information in your evaluation plan.
 - For projects needing different or additional evaluation methods, the NEO provides templates and evaluation planning worksheets on the 4 Steps to an Evaluation Plan (<https://nnlm.gov/neo/members/evaluationresources>) web page to help develop evaluation plans for your project. Subaward applicants also might find other NEO resources (<https://nnlm.gov/neo/guides/tools>) helpful in developing evaluation plans.
 - Public Library Applicants – The Public Library Association’s Project Outcome is a free online toolkit designed to help public libraries understand and share the impact of essential library programs and services with simple surveys and an easy-to-use process for measuring and analyzing outcomes (<https://www.projectoutcome.org/>).
- Continuation plan: Describe the activities that will continue project services to the targeted community or the institution's intent to maintain communication or service to the target population beyond the grant period. If the project is expected to continue after the funded period, include information on how it will be funded.

III. Budget

Proposals must include a budget table or spreadsheet for the costs in each category. Include a narrative justification for budget items, explaining the purpose of each item in the project. See Appendix A for a sample budget table, and consult with your institution to determine documentation required.

The budget estimate should be categorized by the following, as they apply:

- Personnel
- Consultant Costs (hourly rate)
- Equipment
- Supplies
- Travel
- Other
- Direct Costs
- Indirect Costs (IDC) or Facilities and Administrative (F&A) Costs apply at your institution’s non-research rate (or, if your institution has no negotiated rate, a 10% Modified Total Direct Cost (MTDC) can be applied if you wish to claim it)
- Total costs of project

Food, promotional items, and furniture are not allowable expenses. Promotional items include, but are not limited to: clothing and commemorative items such as pens, mugs/cups, folders/folios, lanyards, and conference bags that are sometimes provided to visitors, employees, grantees, or conference attendees. Refer to the policy: <http://www.hhs.gov/grants/contracts/contract-policies-regulations/spending-on-promotional-items/index.html>

Proposal Submission

Submit an electronic version of the proposal to both george.strawley@utah.edu AND rml4@rml4.utah.edu.

The award administrator is George Strawley at george.strawley@utah.edu or (801) 581-5242.

Application Review Information

Select NNLM MCR staff and a representative of a library or community-based organization will review all proposals. If the reviewers have questions about your proposal, it may be returned for clarification and revision. Applications will be evaluated on a first come, first served basis; those receiving a numeric score of at least 75 will be funded until funding is exhausted. Preference will be given to proposals with strong diversity and inclusion efforts. Applicants will receive a copy of reviewer comments along with a final decision regarding funding.
