Identify PubMed® Articles

To identify articles appropriate for patients and families, MedlinePlus creates a PubMed search which automatically adds terminology to retrieve listings from consumer health journals, nursing journals and patient education handouts for the topic or disease of interest.

On an individual Health Topic page in the English version of MedlinePlus, under the Research section, click on Journal Articles and then click on: -- see more articles. Once in PubMed, review the Search details box to see the exact terms used to create the search.
